

ACCELMED Hires Jason Xu, MD, PhD, as Medical Curriculum Manager

Indianapolis, Indiana – May 18, 2010 – ACCELMED has hired Jason Xu, MD, PhD, as a Medical Curriculum Manager in the Medical and Educational Affairs department. Dr. Xu, in alliance with expert faculty members, will be responsible for researching and developing educational content to be delivered to healthcare professionals.

Dr. Xu completed his postdoctoral research at the University of Notre Dame, where he received his PhD in Biochemistry in 2008. Prior to his time at Notre Dame, he completed his clinical residency rotation at China Medical University in Shenyang, China, where he trained in radiology, internal medicine, and surgery, among other areas.

Dr. Xu has coauthored publications in several peer-reviewed journals including Blood, Current Drug Targets, Thrombosis and Haemostasis, and The Journal of Biological Chemistry. In 2007, he was awarded the Tower R.C. Science Fellowship at Notre Dame, and in 2005-2006, he was awarded a predoctoral fellowship by the American Heart Association (AHA). Dr. Xu is a member of the AHA's Council on Arteriosclerosis, Thrombosis, and Vascular Biology as well as a member of the International Atherosclerotic Society and Sigma Xi, an Honorary Scientific Research Society.

ACCELMED specializes in providing quality, free CME/CE-certified initiatives for healthcare professionals. For more information, please visit the company Website at www.accelmed.org.